First American Play Chosen by Cue and Curtain

"The Contrast" by Royall Tyler Will Be Staged Late Next Month

"The Contrast" by Royall Tyler, the first play written in America by an American author with an American theme, has been selected by Cue and Curtain as its spring offering late next month at Wardman Park Theatre.

This singularly appropriate play, an authentic document of eighteenth century manners, has received the blessing of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission. Its merit lies in the fact that it is not a play written today about conditions 200 years ago but is the work of a contemporary whose real insight into the foibles of colonial times makes it a genuine comedy even today.

Written and first presented in the theaters of New York, Pennsylvania, and Maryland in 1796, "The Contrast" concerns society life in New York City during the time of George Washington's presidency. General Washington himself is not a character, but one of his officers is a member of the cast and the first president is both mentioned and eulogized.

Washington Was Sponsor
Washington was probably in one of the first audiences, for his name is found heading the list of subscribers to the new work of the rising young author, Royall Tyler, and it is known that an autographed copy of the play was among the treasures of the Mount Vernon Library.

"The Contrast" was markedly influenced by Richard Brinsley Sheridan's "The School for Scandal" which was presented in New York City just prior to the first appearance of Tyler's play. However, the addition to the cast of characters of Brother Jonathan, a Yankee yokel, more closely identified the American product with familiar American scenes.

During the past week Miss Constance Connor Brown, director of the Cue and Curtain productions, and Phyllis Mills, president and production manager of Cue and Curtain, have been conducting try-outs in Corcoran Hall 33 for the 10 speaking and 14 minor parts which this rollicking comedy affords. Announcement of the students who will participate in "The Contrast" will be made in the next issue of The Hatchet.

There are still a few positions open on the production staff of Cue and Curtain and any student interested in stage management, costuming, make-up, publicity, advertising, tickets, or any of the allied production duties is requested to communicate this week with the production manager, Phyllis Mills, at Metropolitan 4789 or with the business manager, Leo David, at Adams 9245. Tickets for the production will be ready for distribution shortly and mail orders will be received in accordance with the announcement to be made soon in The Hatchet and the local papers.

Junior Panhellenic's Card Party Success

Affair at Kappa Delta House Saturday Afternoon Nets $45

Approximately $45 was taken in by the Junior-Panhellenic Association card party at the Kappa Delta house Saturday, March 19, at 2:30 p. m. The affair was given to raise funds for the increased expenses of the new organization.

Each delegate was made responsible for the sale of two tables. The social committee was composed of Elizabeth Clary, Sigma Kappa, chairman; Margaret Richards, Alpha Delta Pi; and Cordelia Baldwin, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The prospect of giving a permanent scholarship cup to the sorority maintaining the highest average among the pledges taken in during the year is under consideration and part of the money earned will probably be used for this purpose.

Prominent Speaker Gives Talk at Pharmacy School

Bruce Philip, president-elect of the American Pharmaceutical Association and attorney for the National Association of Retail Druggists, spoke to the student body of the Pharmacy School, on Friday night, March 11, under the auspices of the Mortar and Pestle Society.

Men's Debate Team Ends Active Season

Central Control of Industry Argued with Boston University

The George Washington University men's debating team concluded one of its most active and successful years yesterday in its argument against the Boston University team in Stockton Hall 10.

It was a non-decision debate on the subject: "Resolved, That Congress Should Enact Legislation Providing for Centralized Control of Industry." The negative side was upheld by the Colonial team which was represented by Archie Oram, Wilburn West, and Ralph Gilby.

On March 18 a George Washington team represented by Seymour Mintz and Richard Marks met the Colgate University team in Corcoran Hall on the same subject in a non-decision debate. This debate renewed relations between the two schools which had lapsed for a period of years.

Glee Clubs to Give Performance at Fox

Women and Men to Unite for Week's Engagement; Solo to Be Presented

The combined George Washington University Glee Clubs have engaged to appear as a feature attraction at the Fox Theatre for the week beginning Friday, March 25, it was recently announced.

Accompanied by the Fox Theatre Orchestra, under the direction of Al Mitchell, the ensemble of eighty voices will attempt to repeat the smashing success scored by the men's club in its appearance last year at this theatre.

One of the features of the presentation by the glee clubs will be the incidental solo which will be executed by six contraltos, Irene Moore, Gladys Stearley, Leah MacArthur, Margaret Gilligan, Annabelle McCullough, and Platonia Pappas, respectively.

The clubs will sing from the stage, in an attractive setting which is being specially designed in New York.

While this occasion marks the first appearance of the women's club on the professional stage, it is no new experience for the men who, in addition to their spectacular performance last year at the Fox, have sung previously at the Rialto, Keith's, and the Earle.

Bicentennial Honors University Graduate At Novel Exhibition

Among the many events of the current Bicentennial program which have brought honor to George Washington University alumni and students is the Bicentennial Park and Planning Exhibition in the New National Museum, which features works by Garnet Jex, a former student of this University, who received his master's degree last June. He has the distinction of being the only Washington painter represented.

Jex first entered what he styles his "big thesis painting." Later, one of the architects who is collaborating with Col. U. S. Grant, III, and who is in charge of the exhibition, asked that five more of Jex's paintings be entered.

The territory along the river below Great Falls, from which he chose a large number of his landscape subjects, is of particular interest to Jex. One of his paintings is of the Falls itself, from the Maryland side; a second is a view down the narrow gorge on a hot summer day; a third is a section below the gorge with a rising, muddy river; a fourth shows one of the lockhouses on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal; the fifth, a tree-arched channel of the river, which he refers to as the "cable bridge picture."

Shakespeare Society Elects

Current Officers at Meeting

Charles A. Bell was chosen president of the newly organized Shakespeare Society to serve for the remainder of this year. Dorothy Niess and Betty Jacobs were elected vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Louise James was appointed chairman of the program committee.

At the last meeting, held in Corcoran 15, Thursday evening, March 17, various interpretations of the character of Hamlet were offered by several members of the group.

The Shakespeare Society will meet in Corcoran 15 on the first and third Thursdays of each month at 7:30 p. m. The next meeting, scheduled for April 7, will feature a discussion of the life of Shakespeare and its influence on his works, to be led by John Barbers. All students who are interested are urged to attend.

Conference Ranks Pharmacy School Highest in District

All Graduates Pass Board of Pharmacy Examinations on First Attempt

The School of Pharmacy of the George Washington University is the highest ranking of any pharmacy school in this section of the country, according to an announcement made last week by the Conference of the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy and the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy. Dean William Paul Briggs represented the School of Pharmacy of George Washington University at the convention held March 14 and 15 in New York City.

As shown by records and statistics compiled and distributed at this conference, every graduate of the George Washington University School of Pharmacy has successfully passed the Board of Pharmacy examinations on the first attempt in every case since 1927. Since that time, no graduate has been required to repeat his examination. This record ranks the District of Columbia, and in turn, the School of Pharmacy of this University, first in Pharmaceutical District Number Two, which is made up of the States of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and the District of Columbia.

This high rating is a signal honor to the School of Pharmacy, and is a testimonial to the work of Dean Briggs who has striven unceasingly to maintain this unusual record.

Shoreham Selected For Pan-hel Prom

Well-known Carolina Tarheels Named as Possibility for Orchestra

Friday, April 8, is the date definitely chosen by the committee in charge for the annual Pan-hellenic Prom. The modernistic ball room of the Shoreham Hotel will be the scene of the second of George Washington's largest and most important social events.

There is a great possibility that the orchestra will be the Carolina Tarheels. This orchestra, well known throughout the country, should run a close second to Paul Tremaine in popularity with the students.

Pan-hellenic Prom is George Washington University women's one opportunity to repay the men for their social courtesies during the year. It is at this dance that the women are the hosts and the men the guests in every sense of the word.

All active members of sororities and their pledges, as well as many of the alumnae, will be present in their respective boxes.

Brilliant Interfraternity Promenade Features Climax of Social Season

It was a weary, but happy crowd of young men and women who wended their way homeward from the Interfraternity Prom, last Friday night, after enjoying a function that was a brilliant climax to the activities of the Greek Council, this year. Approximately 700 attended the affair which was held in the large ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel.

All credit for the staging of the ball, which far surpassed last year's dance, should rightly go to Jack Vivian, social chairman, and his committee working in conjunction with the entire council under the leadership of C. Manley Feeler.

Paul Tremaine and his band, of "Lonely Acres" fame, furnished the music that was a delight both to those who danced and to those who were content to listen. Tremaine cleverly chose numbers that as time passed became "hotter and hotter" and the climax arrived with the playing of "Oh Mona" and the "St. Louis Blues" just before the grand march.

Take Mashed Picture
The march proceeded first by couples, then by lines of four, and finally when the majority of the couples were massed on the ballroom floor a picture was taken. Suspense was offered by the photographer in the form of a number of flashes on the part of

April 4 Is Deadline For Student Council Nomination Filing

Elections Will Be Held April 28, 29; Candidates May State Platform

On April 4 at 6 p. m., in less than two weeks, all nominating petitions for election to the Student Council must be filed. Elections for the council will be held on April 28 and 29. Votes may be cast at the University gymnasium and at the Medical School.

Attention is called to the fact that all candidates this year may take a stand as to what they intend to do if elected. Many students in the University have definite ideas for the change or betterment of certain conditions present in various departments of the University. Council candidates are thus given opportunity to state their views as to action they will take if elected to the Council.

On April 5 and 6 after the filing of petitions is completed, the eligibility of all candidates will be checked. Those who have not complied with the council regulations will be granted three days in which to make their corrections.

Eligibility Requirements
The eligibility requirements are that the candidate must be enrolled in the department he seeks to represent, must be in good academic standing, and must have completed at least 15 semester hours work in the University at the time of his nomination.

The nominating petition must be signed by at least 5 per cent of the students in the department he seeks to represent and the candidate must sign an affidavit to the effect that, to the best of his knowledge, he will be enrolled in the department he wishes to represent for the ensuing year.

A student may not sign more petitions than his department is entitled to delegates. If the department is entitled to three representatives, then the signer may sign three petitions. If this by-law is violated, the name will be stricken from all the petitions on which it occurs.

Petitions are to be filed with Mrs. Tappley in Dean Doyle's office in building H.

Drama Study Club Hears Hester Beall

Members to Attend Drama Guild Production of "Berkeley Square"

Members of the Drama Appreciation Club heard Miss Hester Beall, who is a hostess at WRC and a well-known teacher of public speaking, at their meeting Wednesday night, March 16.

Miss Beall urged them to develop their faculties for observation. After pointing out how a close attention to details was a great aid in any profession, the speaker emphasized the fact that vitality of thought was one of the greatest factors in the development of a strong personality.

Prominent Students Honored by Scarab

Architectural Fraternity Holds Pledging Services for Six

Five prominent architectural students, Joseph Himmelheber, Cecil McLendon, Neal Sparks, Wesley Budd and William Shoemaker, were pledged to Scarab, national architectural fraternity, at the last regular meeting.

Himmelheber, probably the best known of the men to be honored, has achieved national recognition through his drawings which have appeared on the front page of the Sunday Star's rotogravure section. His work for this year's Cherry Tree is of outstanding quality.

Following the pledging of these men, new officers were elected for the coming year. Edward Spano was chosen president; Walter G. Peter, vice president; Howard "Doc" Armstrong, secretary; Alfred Minno, treasurer; and Taylor Simmons, sergeant-at-arms. They will be installed Thursday night at the Iron Gate Inn; a formal dinner will follow.

Contest Sponsored By Debate Society

Delta Sigma Rho Will Award Silver Cups to Winning Greek Teams

For the third successive year two silver loving cups will be awarded to the winning fraternity and winning sorority debate teams. The contest will be held early in April, according to announcements and invitations sent out yesterday by the local chapter of Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary debating fraternity sponsoring the event.

According to the rules laid down by the Public Speaking Department, entries must be in not later than March 24. Each team is to consist of two members who will be allowed ten minutes apiece for constructive speeches and five minutes for rebuttal. Participants must not have engaged in inter-collegiate debates here or elsewhere.

The questions for the debaters will be different for men and women. They will be of a non-technical type designed to arouse the most possible interest among the supporters of the various organizations and will be mailed to contestants on March 26.

Last year Kappa Delta won the sorority cup with Dorothy Porterfield and Ruth Allen on the platform and Phi Epsilon Pi won the fraternity trophy by virtue of the work of Seymour Mintz and Colman Stein. The 1929 winners were Phi Sigma Kappa and Pi Beta Phi. The cups become the permanent possession of any fraternity winning three years in succession.

Phi Pi Epsilon Fetes Fraternity at Meeting

Delta Phi Epsilon Men Are Honored Guests at Entertainment

Phi Pi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity for women, founded a year ago at George Washington University, entertained active and alumni members of Eta Chapter of Delta Phi Epsilon, men's foreign service fraternity, at a formal program meeting held last Tuesday evening at the Hay-Adams House.

Mrs. Benjamin B. Wallace, wife of the advisor to the Minister of Finance of China, and F. M. Anderson, assistant solicitor of the State Department, were guest speakers for the evening.

Mr. Anderson spoke on the difficulties encountered in the foreign service field and mentioned that sympathetic understanding rather than tolerance should characterize the foreign service officer's attitude toward the people of other nations with whom he comes in contact.

Mrs. Wallace, who recently returned from China, gave a very interesting talk on the present Chinese political and economic situation.

The meeting was conducted by Mildred Burnham, national president of Phi Pi Epsilon. Among the other speakers she introduced were: Dorothy Niess, Caldwell Kendrick, Dr. and Mrs. John Donaldson, and Dr. William F. Notz, dean of the Foreign Service School at Georgetown University, and national president of Delta Phi Epsilon.

Among the other guests present were Dr. and Mrs. Norman T. Anderson, Miss Mary Bainbridge Hayden, Professor and Mrs. Samuel Flagg Bemis, Professor and Mrs. William Johnstone, and Professor and Mrs. Richard Norman Owens.

University Group Will Be Host to Pi Delta Epsilon Annual Conclave

Catholic, Maryland Chapters to Assist G. W. Men in Three Day Program Beginning April 12

George Washington University chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon will celebrate its tenth anniversary as a member of the fraternity by playing host to the 1932 Grand Convention which convenes here April 12 for a three day program. Assisting the George Washington chapter will be the groups from Catholic University and Maryland University.

The program will open on Tuesday, April 12 with a smoker at one of the local fraternity houses. Wednesday will be devoted mainly to business sessions, with a luncheon at the Press Club to relieve the tension. Wednesday night the official convention banquet will be given, at the Hotel Mayflower. The group pledged this year will be initiated into the fraternity at the convention banquet.

On Thursday the scene of activity will be shifted to the campus at Catholic University, where the morning business session will be held, and where the newest chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon will entertain at a luncheon. The afternoon of Thursday will be devoted to sightseeing, and the official program will close with a dance that night.

Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, the Grand Secretary of Pi Delta Epsilon, with the aid of several well-known members of the Washington newspaper corps, has promised a full program of speakers for the convention. Washington is in many respects the news center of the world, providing the ideal setting for the convention of a journalistic fraternity, and this meeting should prove one of the outstanding ones in the fraternity's history.

Manuscripts Must Be in by March 25 For Davis Contest

The dead-line for the submission of manuscripts in the Davis Prize Speaking Contest, is set for Friday, March 25, at 5 p. m. Papers must be in the office of the Public Speaking Department, third floor of building Q, by that time to receive consideration. The orations will be delivered at an All-University Assembly on Thursday, April 7, at 8 p. m. in Corcoran 10. Dean William Cabell Van Vleck, Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, and Professor Willard Hayes Yeager will be judges.

Winners of this competition receive awards of $15, $10, and $5, respectively. The speeches are limited to ten minutes, and should be persuasive rather than informative. They should also be of current interest on the campus, according to announcements of the Public Speaking Department. All men and women in the senior class are eligible.

Two of the judges were winners of this contest, in past years. Dean Van Vleck received second prize in 1908, and Professor Kayser was victorious in 1917. Last year's winner was Paul H. McMurray, a graduate in Columbian College at present. Oscar B. Glick and Robert E. Freer were second and third prize recipients, respectively.

The history of this contest, established in 1847 by Honorable Isaac Davis, of Massachusetts, is most interesting. In the first years of its existence, it was run in two parts, one for men and a separate contest for women. As it was not considered fitting for women to appear on a platform and deliver an oration, they were judged solely on the basis of written essays.

Dr. Wickey Will Address University Chapel Friday

Dr. N. J. Gould R. Wickey, president of the Council of Church Boards of Education in America, will speak at the University Chapel on Good Friday in Corcoran Hall 10 at 12:10. Dr. Wickey is a graduate of Gettysburg College and has done post-graduate work at Oxford.

Intramural Baseball

Intramural baseball, in which six schools of the University will have teams, promises to develop into one of the most interesting seasonal contests in years, with substantial awards awaiting the winners and those who distinguish themselves individually. The absence of varsity teams is more than compensated by these intramural games, whereby many more students are given a chance to participate in their favorite sport than would be possible otherwise. All enthusiasts of the national game should see their respective managers or communicate with Max Farrington in the athletic office. The object of intramurals is to give everyone interested a chance to play, and it is not necessary to be of professional or varsity caliber to make the teams.

This spring sport is only the beginning of opportunities to be presented by the sports department to engage in outdoor games, and the success and extension of the program of spring sports depends on the cooperation and enthusiasm shown by the student body. The Hatchet commends intramural baseball to you, and suggests that applications for positions on the various teams be filed as soon as possible.

Student Council Elections

Several petitions for Student Council nominations are in process of circulation and, thus far, no definite statement of any policy or platform has come to our attention. Petitioners merely approach students of their acquaintance and solicit support on the strength of friendship, sometimes dating from the moment of the signature.

The Hatchet believes that nominations should not be made on this basis. The Student Council favors a statement of policy by all candidates, and the student body is entitled to such action on the part of petitioning nominees. Many students have voiced objections to certain acts of the Student Council. Now is the time for them to speak, either through the filing of petitions for nomination in the coming elections, or by asking nominees for a definite, point-blank statement of aims and intentions.

Neither the Student Council nor the Administration can know of dissatisfaction with existing government if such dissatisfaction is not voiced. Do not expect your criticism to carry weight unless it is constructive, and to be constructive it must not be in the form of "I told you so."

Members of the various schools should question students who solicit their support in the coming elections. In several cases there may be only one council member from a school, and endorsement of the first petition automatically eliminates consideration of other candidates as far as the signing student is concerned. Look over the candidates from your school, and select the one whose opinions coincide with your own, and then work for him, publicly and earnestly.

Candidates should state their views and policies NOW. Without such frank procedure it will be evident that Student Council elections hold no interest for the students of George Washington University.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

"Rumble seat" colds are blamed by University of Kansas authorities for the present epidemic of red, runny noses on the campus.

Buddy Rogers said, "You can always pick a college student by his gentlemanly ways. They are a genuine lot."

Sixty-five students are working their way through Syracuse by mopping floors for three hours a day.

The University of Hawaii lists a course in hula-hula dancing in its physical education class.

A student at Denison University may be reinstated "only if absences are caused by long continued illness or death."

Coads with corsages are denied admission to University of Washington dances.

World News

By RICHARD C. MARKS

The House of Representatives repudiated its leadership last week to make drastic changes in the 1933 revenue bill. Members disregarded appeals for party loyalty on the part of Democratic Speaker Garner and Republican leader Snell, and boosted both the surtax rates to wartime levels and the rate of incomes in the higher brackets. The insurgents of both parties have also been intent upon killing or crippling the proposed manufactures sales tax. The whole fracas has revolved about whether the badly needed federal revenue should come from "the pockets of the rich, or the poor." Persons wishing for the rise of a third or opposition party in the United States have again taken the opportunity to point out the lack of any real difference between the Republican and Democratic parties.

The critical stage of the Shanghai trouble seems to have passed. Actual warfare has stopped, and an armistice is expected to be signed this week. The Japanese army will probably retire from the Shanghai area, and a round table conference will be set up to consider the questions of the Chinese boycott of Japanese goods, the permanent administration of the area, and the responsibility for damages. Meanwhile, the new Manchurian (Japanese-controlled) government has severed all relations with China proper, though no foreign powers have recognized its existence or are likely to do so for some time to come.

Governor Roosevelt of New York is getting closer to the Democratic presidential nomination. Last week he won in three state primaries, his leading opponents being Al Smith and "Alfalfa Bill" Murray.

One Federal agency, the Farm Board, wants to get credit from another Federal agency, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, in order to market a huge part of the wheat and cotton surplus now on its hands. China and Germany are suggested as the principal buyers. If the complicated deal goes through the effect will be a rise in wheat prices and more prosperous American farmers.

Two "poor boys who made good" took their own lives last week. Ivar Kreuger was world famed as head of the Swedish match trust and a money lender to many nations. George Eastman, who popularized the camera, was internationally known also for philanthropic work in music, dentistry, and education.

Despite the fact that President Van Hinderburg will probably be re-elected in the "runoff" vote on April 10, conservative German fear of "Handsome Adolph" Hitler, Fascist leader, is still prevalent. Last week police in a German city found documents which seemed to indicate that Hitler's party would attempt to seize the power of the government. A change of government in Germany would mean the immediate reopening of the whole world-wide question of war debts and reparations, and resultant effects upon the business policies and governments of the leading world powers.

Platt Will Conduct Engineers' Banquet

Construction Official to Serve as Toastmaster; Lapham to Speak

Otis L. Turner, chairman of the Engineering banquet to be held on April 9 at the Mayflower Hotel, announces that James H. Platt, superintendent of construction in the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of Interior, has been secured to serve as toastmaster on that occasion.

For nine years Mr. Platt was on the staff of the mechanical engineering department of the school of engineering as an assistant professor and specialized in thermodynamics. After resigning from the engineering school faculty he took a position in the construction quartermaster's office in the War Department. He later left that position to take his present position.

George Jackson, who has charge of the ticket sales for the banquet states that his committee is making an effort to personally interview every student in the engineering school. Students who are not personally solicited are requested to call at the office of Dean John R. Lapham to secure their tickets.

A program of entertainment is being arranged under the direction of Firman Lyle. Among the speakers for the evening are listed the heads of the local branches of the several professional engineering societies, Dean John R. Lapham, and Major General Amos A. Fries, U. S. Army, retired.

International Relations Club

Studies Far Eastern Affairs

Members of the International Relations Club are attending the Institute of Far Eastern Affairs, sponsored by the American University Graduate School of Political Science, held yesterday and today in the auditorium of the Interior Department.

William Crane Johnstone, Jr., professor of political science, made one of the addresses. Other speakers were Dr. A. N. Holcombe of Harvard University, Dr. Moulton of Brookings Institute, and Fred Moore, former advisor of the Japanese government.

The Society of the Colonial Dames of America, Chapter III, offers annually a gold medal for general excellence in Colonial History as shown by class standing and special essays. Daughters of the American Revolution Prize

This prize, founded by the Daughters of the American Revolution of the District of Columbia, consists of a gold medal, awarded annually to a woman student in Columbian College, the School of Government, or the School of Education who, having maintained a high standing in the several courses in history offered by the University, shall produce the best essay on American history of the period between 1774 and 1788.

Walsh, Esq., of Colorado, consists of a gold medal awarded annually to that student of the graduating class who, having maintained a high standard in the several courses in history, shall produce the best essay upon a designated period of the history of England in its association with the history of Ireland. Professor George M. Churchill has announced that the subject of this essay for the current year is to deal with "The Stratford Administration of Ireland."

Control of Industry Subject of Debaters

Colgate and George Washington Teams Hold Non-Decision Debate

"Centralized Control of Industry will make the government a dictator to all business, and America will have Fascism," was the charge made against that form of national economic planning by Richard C. Marks of the George Washington debate team, Friday morning at 11 a. m. in Corcoran Hall 33. Marks and Seymour Mintz representing George Washington in debate with Colgate, supported the negative of the question: Resolved, That the Congress Should Enact Legislation Providing for a Centralized Control of Industry.

The affirmative of the case was upheld by G. Van Schlichten and E. Aldt of Colgate University. Professor Willard Hayes Yenger, head of the Public Speaking department was chairman.

The men from Colgate University very cleverly evaded the intricacies of a plan by not suggesting any definite one. They contended that under the wording of the question they were only required to show the necessity for Centralized Control of Industry.

Van Schlichten of Colgate opened the debate by showing the inadequacies of the present system of capitalism to serve the country through business cycles. He admitted personally that he was in favor of pure Socialism but he did not yet deem that possible. He said America has three alternatives just now. The first is Socialism, the second is to let business work out its own salvation, and the third and the most workable will be a plan for national control of industry.

Mintz opens for Negative Seymour Mintz opened the case for the negative by showing that the real cause of the depression was the war, and that Economic planning would not end wars. He used, as an illustration, the utter futility of an Economic Council in trying to stop the Sino-Japanese conflict.

The principal clash of the debate came in the last two rebuttals between Marks of George Washington and Aldt of Colgate, over the effect of the word control. The proponents of the plan from Colgate could see no harmful massing of powers in the word control, while George Washington, although they accepted the planning idea, pictured a new form of government interference in the plan.

Getting by Easily

Temple University offers credits for studies in "Social Etiquette." Barnard College grants credit to all who take the course in "Feeling" as the roof of Barnard Hall. New York University offers credit in "Personality Development."

It has been whispered about that the splinters in a nearby church floor have added a few unnatural gyrations to "Addie." Aubeck's natural dancing program. "What's a little splinter when it comes to Art?" says "Addie."

The A. D. Pi's should have the Chi O's one up in the house warming act if that swing we noticed on the back porch is comfortable, or if the sisters are well versed enough in them native arts.

A special police detail was organized to take care of the large crowd which attended the natural dancing exhibition after Alice Buell inadvertently announced that she had just bought the "net" for her costume.

We use no foreign seasoning for we want our foods to retain the natural juices and flavors... we want our foods to taste just as foods do in your own home.

Kappa Sigma Beats Acacians; Thrilling Three Game Match Decides Interfraternity Series

Phi Sigma Kappa Rolls Highest Team Set of 1590 In Contest on Wednesday; Baldwin Bowls High Set of 312

In a thrilling three game match Kappa Sigma bowlers won the interfraternity pin-spilling tournament by beating Acacia with a count of 1494 to 1438. The Kappa Sigs were forced to play the third game after Rice of Acacia topped 8 pins on a spare in the last box of the second game clinching that contest for the Masons.

Wednesday of last week saw the completion of the semi-finals in which Phi Sigma Kappa whipped Theta Delta Chi easily, and Acacia took the T. U. O's. Phi Sigma Kappa in their last match of the season rolled a record team score of 1590 beating Sigma Nu's record of the previous week.

Teams Fairly Even
The championship match started with the two teams fairly even until the end of the eighth box at which time the Kappa Sigma youths forged ahead and won the first game by 13 pins, the numbers being 505-492. Kappa Sigma was strong throughout the second game but slowly the Acacians drew up and at the tenth and last box the difference was a matter of a few pins. At this point Rice obtained 8 pins on his spare and won the second for Acacia and necessitated the continuance of the match.

Kappa Sigma showed its superiority in the last rolling fracas, holding the lead in practically every box and the final count was a criterion of the ability of the Kappa Sigmas as bowlers, being 514 to 468 in their favor.

Although Summers of the Masons obtained the high game for the evening, 118, and also high set for his group of 308, Rice was the Acacian hero of the evening for his brilliant bit at the end of the second game.

Tom Baldwin, Kappa Sigma, was the brilliant meteor of this championship match bowling 312 for the highest set of the contest and rolling 114 for the second highest game.

Donation of Easter Baskets

Spring Football Candidates Due for Outdoor Practices

Spring football practice enters into the third week with the prospect of strenuous physical exercise as soon as the cold weather will allow the team to go outdoors. Both tackling and blocking practice has been held in the past week in the gym.

Outside of numerous cases of "charley horse" and other miscellaneous pains and aches, only two accidents have occurred which may be termed serious. Baker, with a severely strained hand, and a broken collar bone of Parrish are the two casualties.

Thirty-five candidates have been participating in these daily drills, which will be continued until the first of April.

Swimming Season Ends for Colonials

A. A. U. Meet Winds Up Creditable Year for Coach Lyman's Charges

The tank suits of the Colonial swimmers have been put in moth balls for another year. Coach Lyman's charges completed a very creditable season last Friday and Saturday nights although they went down to defeat in the District A. A. U. Meet held in the shimmering pool of the Shoreham Hotel. The loss of Captain Max Rose, due to illness, was felt sharply.

Rote, who holds numerous A. A. U. records, was unable to defend not only his own laurels, but those of the team. There is but little doubt that if Max had been able to swim, G. W.'s showing would have been more noteworthy. Despite Rote's loss the team itself performed creditably. The "Iron man" of the team, M. L. Burnside, displayed true ability and spirit by entering the 50 and 100 yd. free style and the 220 yd. swim as well as swimming on the third place 200 yd. relay team.

Gale Heslop and Jim Kinsler qualified in the 50 yd. free style and the 200 yd. breast stroke respectively, but were unable to place in the finals. Charles Trammell and Johnny Everett, breast-stroke swimmers, showed up well in their respective qualifying heats by taking third place.

Johnny Hain, freshman backstroke, and Bonner and Sompayrac, fancy divers, have shown ability in competition and much is expected of them next season. Dick Garrett and Bob McMillan, dash men, will also return.

W. A. A. Elects New Officers at Meeting

Haley Chosen President for Next Year; Class Managers Also Selected

At the W. A. A. elections, held in Corcoran Hall, Wednesday, March 16, at 7:00 p. m., Grace Haley was chosen to head the organization for the coming year. Other officers were elected as follows: Vice president, Edith Grosvonts; treasurer, Dorothy Wilson; secretary, Katherine Prichard; first assistant secretary, Mary Louise Brazleton; and second assistant secretary, Katherine Wassmann.

Class managers also were selected at this meeting. Those who will represent their respective classes are: Helen Chafe, senior manager; Janet Young, junior manager; and Reba Barton, sophomore manager. The class managerial system which was an innovation this year has been very successful, and the W. A. A. will continue to use the same plan, the managers automatically becoming members of the board.

The new president, Grace Haley, is a prominent figure in other campus activities. A junior student in the Department of Physical Education, she has been a valuable member of the hockey, soccer, and basketball teams this year.

A dean at Bowdoin University recently proved to some law students that touching his fingers to his toes with knees straight was nothing at all, and, incidentally, collected forty cents for the act.

SPORT AXE

By GORDON V. POTTER

Kappa Sigma came through with a great big bang, when they spilled pins all about the alleys and left the Acacians rather bewildered last Saturday evening at the Columbia Pinways. After losing the second game to the Masons, the Kappa Sigs showed their real worth by coming through with a score that topped their opponents by a considerable margin. Tom Baldwin, of the Kappa Sigs, is a bowler of superior merit and has the desirable faculty of obtaining a strike or a spare in crucial moments when such little breaks are a boon to a slipping team.

The football men of our great University are blossoming out into full "social" bloom, as a number of the hardy athletes were seen cavorting to the tune of Paul Tremain and his band at the interfraternity Prom.

No response has been received as yet concerning the ironic distribute about the George Washington policy that appeared in the Raspberry.

Varsity Marksmen Win Second Place In Sectional Match

Navy Repeats Victory in This Section; Colonials Act as Hosts

Acting as host to seven college teams shooting for the Middle Atlantic and National Intercollegiate Rifle Championships, George Washington repeated its performance of last year by finishing second to a crack Navy outfit, last year's national champions. Navy's score of 1,857 out of a possible 1,500 was a substantial margin over the G. W. score of 1,831. Johns Hopkins rated a good third with 1,828. Although this score enabled the Middies to retain their sectional title it was only high enough to rank them third nationally. The University of Cincinnati gained the national championship with a score of 1,863 and Iowa was second with a score of 1,858.

The Colonial marksmen, although keeping their Middle Atlantic status, dropped in the national rating. Last year they were the ranking civilian college team with a score of 1,370. Scores throughout the country, however, were considerably lower than last year. Cincinnati's winning score was 19 points lower than that of the Navy last year.

Standing of Teams
The teams finished in the local meet as follows: Navy, 1,857; George Washington, 1,831; Johns Hopkins, 1,828; Georgetown, 1,823; Pennsylvania, 1,310; Maryland, 1,307; Virginia Polytechnic Institute, 1,284; Penn State, 1,284. V. R. I.'s 20-point margin in the standing position entitled them to a higher rating than Penn State, though the totals of both teams were the same.

High individual scores in this section were made by Wells of Navy with 278 out of 300 and Beach of G. W. with 277. McDougal, Western High product, gave the Middies third place with 276. In the prone and kneeling shooting, the Colonials more than matched the Middies but the latter gained 28 points in the standing position for their margin of victory.

These matches, held annually under the direction of the National Rifle Association, were also conducted yesterday at West Point, University of Missouri, University of Cincinnati, and University of Illinois.

Discomfort Caused Barefoot Dancers

"Ouch!"

A feminine shriek sends the air and a feminine figure clad in a bathing suit disconcerts her graceful gyrations to grasp one foot and hop about. At last the truth is out—the floor has splinters!

The worst part of these cunning slivers of wood is that they are no respecters of persons. If you don't believe that ask Miss Aubeck, the dancers' dainty mentor why she ejaculated a certain exclamation when she sat down on the edge of the platform there the other day.

But cheer up, children. The swimming season will be on before you can say "Give me my shoes" and swimming pools have stone floors.

Despite his outward appearance of lackadaisical good naturedness, Wallis Schutt is in reality a hard working, efficient person who holds down the difficult job of Sports Editor of The Hatchet.

His chief interests are in the journalistic field. He has served on The Hatchet since 1929, in the capacities of reporter, departmental editor, and at present, associate editor. The Cherry Tree has also claimed his attention. He has been editor of the Engineering section for two years.

Spring Sport Season To Start for Women

Baseball, Tennis, Golf, Archery, and Swimming Will Be Offered

The spring sports season for women is starting this week with a variety of sports offered for required as well as class team work. The schedule includes baseball, tennis, golf, archery, and swimming.

All freshmen are required to take the University swimming test, consisting of diving into the pool and swimming two lengths. If they successfully meet these requirements they may elect baseball, tennis (if they have not taken it at George Washington before), or swimming. If they do not pass the test, freshmen must enter the elementary or intermediate swimming classes. Sophomores who have passed the test may elect swimming, baseball, tennis, or golf if they have not taken it before at the University. Those who have failed to pass the swimming test must enter the elementary or intermediate classes.

Class practices in all sports are in charge of their respective managers, assisted by their class managers. Florence Hedges is manager of baseball, Mary Louise Bragelton, manager of tennis, and Betty Monroe, manager of swimming.

Patriots
Of 250 men questioned at Pitt University, only 17 expressed a willingness to volunteer should the United States declare war on Japan, while 119 said they would go if drafted, and 104 said they would not fight under any circumstances.

Positions for Managership Of Women's Sports Open

The women's physical education department and the Women's Athletic Association announce that a number of managerships for next year are now open. These positions are managers of hockey, soccer, tennis, archery, riding, publicity and intramurals.

Women appointed to these positions sit on either the W. A. A. board or the intramurals board, and work with the old managers for the remainder of the year in order that they may become adjusted to the work. The chairman of riding will begin her work immediately upon her appointment as the spring riding show will be presented soon.

All applications for these managerships should file their applications and qualifications with Miss Atwell immediately.

Fostering Excellence

Experience has taught us about the tastes and likes of those who choose to patronize Cleves. We found, quite some time ago, that the services of a college trained dietitian adds points of fineness and an ever re-occurring "newness" to Cleves foods and menus . . . that a well decorated, well lighted, comfortable dining room with cozy corners is appreciated, especially by patrons from George Washington.

Farrington, Deibert Enter Gate and Key

Honorary Inaugurates New Policy of Electing Faculty Members to Ranks

In accordance with a new policy of encouraging relations between students and faculty, Gate and Key, men's interfraternity honorary society initiated Max Farrington and Professor Alan T. Deibert at a special meeting last Wednesday evening at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house.

Farrington has been assistant athletic director since coming to the University two years ago, and has been responsible for the operation of the football training house as well as holder of the purse strings to the department.

He is not only a capable athletic director, but is one of the most liked members of the faculty. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Professor Deibert has also made himself popular among the students and his excellent choice of ties has for some time aroused a stir on the campus. He was recently initiated into T. U. O. and Delta Phi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity.

Alumnus Appointed San Diego Justice

Arthur L. Mundo, Local Phi Delta Pi Member, Rises to Bench

Arthur L. Mundo, former student at George Washington University and member of Phi Delta Pi legal fraternity, was recently named to the sixth superior judgeship of the court of San Diego, California, by Governor James Rolph, Jr.

The appointment followed a personal visit of the governor to San Diego, where he conferred with city, county, and court officials and leaders of five factions, who were sponsoring candidates for the post. Mundo received the judgeship over several others.

Women Debate Pittsburgh On Subject of Socialism

The George Washington women debaters represented by Elizabeth Reeves, Hilda Hayes, and Louise Bruce argued the question, "Resolved: Capitalism Is Better for the Worker than Socialism" with the Pittsburgh University team in the Lambie House Saturday, with Miss Constance Connor Brown officiating. No decision was made. Tea was served after the debate with the Pittsburgh team as guests of honor.

The above Colonial team has just returned from a victorious trip through the north where they defeated Boston University on March 10, arguing the subject, "Resolved: That Socialism is Preferable to Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization." The George Washington women defended the negative side of the argument.

On the following day the members of the team were the guests of New York University at New York in a non-decision debate on the same subject.

Botany Laboratory At Loss to Explain Strange Phenomena

Will some enterprising young genius please trot around to the third floor of building H and help the botanists decide just where a plant leaves off and becomes an animal?

At this time of the year, when love among the spirogyra is the all-absorbing topic up there, things begin to get slightly confused. For, after all, when ulothrix has six to ten ways of reproducing and when one kind of plant sits down and grows up to be something else again, one wonders where it's going to end.

Furthermore, when plants swim around and animals forget they're animals and grow chloroplasts—in short, when both sides break the rules and borrow each others' habits, something ought to be done about it.

That is why the botany classes would be grateful for some good clear definitions. And that is why we concentrate, ourselves, on parameria—those cunning creatures which bump microscopically all over microscopic weeds. They, at least, are dependable. Dependably animal, of course.

D. M. Yap Selected By Modernist Party

University Student Chosen Secretary of Filipino Organization

When the formation of the Modernist Party, whose main aim is the complete modernization of the Philippine Islands, was announced, many George Washington professors and students were pleased to learn that Diosdado M. Yap, M. A., was elected general secretary of the party.

Yap, at present a student at G. W., is a persistent and hard worker. Being the technical advisor of the Washington office of the Filipino Federation of America, he was thought to be particularly well-fitted for the important and difficult post of general secretary of the new organization.

In the initial appearance of the Modernist, the official organ of the party, appears an excellent write-up on Dr. Hilario Camino Moncado, the organizer and leader of the new party. The article is written by James G. Wingo, at one time a student at this University, who is now the Washington correspondent of the Philippine Free Press. While at G. W. Wingo was a member of the Hatchet staff.

Home Economics Sorority Will Maintain New Library

Alpha Phi Epsilon, the newly organized home economics honorary sorority, is planning to sponsor a home economics library and to maintain a "Who's Who in Home Economics" which will include write-ups and topics of interest about well-known women in that work.

This honorary professional group expects to become an extremely active part of the Department, and is considering the organization of a home economics club.

Alpha Delta Pi Wins Finals In Women's Bridge Contest

Alpha Delta Pi defeated Chi Omega, the defending champions, in the finals of the Panhellenic duplicate bridge tournament. The winner will be presented with a silver loving cup at the Panhellenic Prom on April 8.

Government Experts On Summer Faculty

F. A. Ogg, Feiker, Surface, and Rippy Offer Interesting Courses

Two experts from the Federal Government, Frederick M. Feiker, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, and Dr. Frank M. Surface, assistant director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, are among the prominent men who have been called to the faculty of the Summer Sessions of the George Washington University.

Modern trends in the organization of business, with particular attention paid to the national planning of business, will be the subject of Mr. Feiker's course. Approaching the subject of marketing from the consumer point of view, including the consideration of population and income distribution, Dr. Surface's course will deal with the principles of merchandising.

Both of these courses will be offered in the six weeks term, beginning July 5 and closing on August 13.

Other outstanding men are Professor Frederick Austin Ogg, of the University of Wisconsin, who will offer work dealing with politics in the Far East and in comparative government; and Professor J. Fred Rippy, of Duke University, whose course, "The Independence Movement in the Americas with Special Reference to Washington and Other Leaders," is in line with the special work on the general subject of Latin America. He will also give a course dealing with the relations between America and Europe in recent times.

In addition to a background course in Hispanic American History, an unusual seminar-conference in Hispanic American affairs will be presented which will include lectures by outstanding authorities in this field from all parts of the United States.

Other fields in which the University has prepared expanded summer curricula are in teacher-training courses and the natural sciences. Courses for teachers will be offered through the School of Education which are new in material and presented by distinguished visiting professors. A cycle of field courses which will serve as a ground-work for research in Geology, Botany, and Zoology, is the special offering in the field of natural sciences. A full program of academic and professional courses in other branches of the University completes the summer program.

Dates of the Summer Sessions are: Nine weeks' term, June 20 to August 20; six weeks' term, July 5 to August 13. The first term of the Law Summer Session will be from June 20 to August 3, and the second term from August 4 to September 17.

Femmes Will Seek Revenge in Annual Edition of Petticoat

Now that the Raspberry is out and all are well informed as to the escapades and affairs of individuals, we wonder if there will be any "man hunts" for the coming Petticoat.

Much credit is to be given to that well developed detective system which unearths facts never before known on the G. W. campus. This true "Underground Railroad" functions so that only a Sherlock Holmes could elude it. However, it is woman's nature to be curious; hence beware!

Some of the fair females could only "grin and bear it" but "revenge is sweet" so there are hopes for some real surprises.

Faculty Women Entertain With Tea at Hay Adams

Faculty women of the University entertained last Friday afternoon at a Colonial tea in tribute to the memory of George Washington, in the grill room of the Hay Adams House. A large number of members and their guests attended.

The program, which was arranged by Mrs. John Donaldson, chairman, opened with piano solos by Mrs. Russell McNitt, featuring early American music. A playlet, "Happiness Day," by Major R. B. Lawrence, was presented by Mrs. Arnold McNitt as Martha Washington, with Mrs. Donaldson and Mildred Burnham in the other roles. Lois Balcom and Don Boggs, accompanied by George Cornwell, on the piano, danced a French minuet, and Lester Shafer, co-director of the Denishawn School of the Dance, gave a brief description of the minuet.
